

I fully support XM and Sirius radio. It is the best thing that has come along for the transportation industry in a long time. I am a OTR driver and when you travel 48 states and Canada it takes a lot of time searching thru local FM or AM stations to track down a traffic and or weather report and its even harder to find one that can tell you the weather and or traffic problems that might be 3 hours away. This saves the time of the transportation industry and makes it so we arent looking at the stereo changing stations to find a report so there is more time we can look at the road and be safer drivers in the long run.
